

DISAPPEARING THE HUMANITIES. “More esoteric offerings such as literature, philosophy, fine arts, and so forth will only be justified in the minds of the public as they are clearly related to practical concerns. The fact that these are traditional parts of comprehensive universities is no longer a strong enough argument to the public” - from President’s Planning Retreat Jan. 20, 2010 Cal State Fullerton HTTP://MAKEBELIEVECOMMITTEE.WORDPRESS.COM/

DISAPPEARING THE HUMANITIES. “ Students become ‘consumers’ and the University becomes a ‘producer’ – they are organized around the demand for and supply of university degrees. (p. 10) Michael Parker the Director of University Planning of CSUF. HTTP://MAKEBELIEVECOMMITTEE.WORDPRESS.COM/

DISAPPEARING THE HUMANITIES. “Developing the mind, the human spirit, citizenship, and aesthetic taste become incidental. In part this comes about because of a shift from an industrial economic base to the knowledge economy where knowledge becomes ‘human capital.’ Not surprising, programs that do not have direct relationships to careers often do less well at attracting majors. In this new context, traditional universities are at a disadvantage since their multiplex purposes are costly when compared with the kind of singularity of vision (and perceived practicality) represented by such mass-market universities.” (p. 10) -Michael Parker the Director of University Planning of CSUF HTTP://MAKEBELIEVECOMMITTEE.WORDPRESS.COM/

DISAPPEARING THE HUMANITIES. “More esoteric offerings such as literature, philosophy, fine arts, and so forth will only be justified in the minds of the public as they are clearly related to practical concerns. The fact that these are traditional parts of comprehensive universities is no longer a strong enough argument to the public” - from President’s Planning Retreat Jan. 20, 2010 Cal State Fullerton HTTP://MAKEBELIEVECOMMITTEE.WORDPRESS.COM/